Environmental Product Declaration

Brazed plate heat exchanger

Alfa Laval endeavours to perform its own operations as cleanly and efficiently as possible, and to take environmental aspects into consideration when developing, designing, manufacturing, selling and marketing its products. It does this by identifying the significant environmental impacts of its products and operations and taking appropriate measures to reduce them. This work is supported by implementing environmental management systems normally certified to ISO 14001 in all its manufacturing operations.

This Environmental Product Declaration is made in accordance with ISO 14021. For more information, Life Cycle Assessment and Sustainability Reports are available on request.

The product

A brazed plate heat exchanger consists of a pack of thin corrugated metal plates. A thin copper foil is placed between each plate. The assembly is placed in a high temperature furnace in which the copper foil melts and brazes two adjacent plates together. The melted foil also seals the channel formed between two plates. In order to retain high internal pressure, both thicker front and end plates are normally brazed to both sides of the plate pack. Connections for fluids are either brazed or welded to the front plate.

The size of the unit and the number of plates are determined by the requirements of the particular application and duty. Each individual brazed plate heat exchanger is engineered for its duty and as a result, the usage of materials is kept to a minimum.

Construction materials

Plates and connections
Both the corrugated plates and the thicker front and end plates are made of stainless steel type 304 or type 316. The degree of recycled material in stainless steel 316 is typically between 80-90%. Connections are normally made of stainless steel type 304 or 316, but may also be made of carbon steel.

Packing

Packing material consists of wood, plastics, carbonised bamboo, in some cases, metal strips. Alfa Laval endorses strict environmental demands on its suppliers for all types of packing material.

Brazing material

The brazing material is copper with 99.9% purity. For a complete brazed heat exchanger, the copper constitutes around 10% of the total weight.
